

8 Reasons Everlance FAVR is a Driver Favorite

You've got some questions about this change. We get it. Fortunately, your team's partnering with Everlance. Making life easier for mobile workers like you is our mission.

1 The comfort of your own car

You can't beat the convenience of your own vehicle. Now you get to use it for work, too, and get reimbursed for the costs.

2 Dependable payments

Every month you get a fixed allowance, no matter how many miles you drive. It's money you can count on to help pay bills.

3 Fair reimbursements

Your reimbursement doesn't just account for gas. FAVR recognizes you're paying for insurance, maintenance, and more, and pays you for your actual costs, tax-free.

4 Up-to-date rates

Current gas prices in your area are used to calculate your monthly variable reimbursement. That means you're protected even as prices change.

5 Automatic mileage records

Yes, you have to log your work miles to get reimbursed, but the Everlance app makes it easy. Just start driving, and it records your trip. It's literally set it and forget it!

6 Easy to submit reports

At the end of the month, simply double check your trips and submit them for reimbursement. Then sit back and watch as your report is approved and paid!

7 Privacy is our priority

Your personal and unclassified trips are never shared with your company (or anyone else). Every trip is private until you classify it as work-related.

8 Friendly customer service

When you need help, our team is here 7 days a week. Call, chat or email us and someone will quickly get your questions resolved.

? Sounds great! So what exactly is FAVR?

FAVR stands for Fixed And Variable Rate. It's an IRS-approved program that reimburses you for driving a personal vehicle for work with two monthly payments:

- ✓ Fixed allowance to cover the costs of owning a vehicle, like car payments, insurance and registration
- ✓ Variable payment for the costs of using your car, based on local gas prices and how many miles you drive

? And what is Everlance?

Everlance is a FAVR administrator managing the program for your company. Our app is the #1-rated mileage and expense tracker, and we're here to make it simple for you to get reimbursed for every work mile.
